Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

City Council Fail to Fix the Tax Rate

NOTHING of a definite nature as regards our tax rate was accomplished at last night's meeting of the Glendale city council.

This meeting had been called for the special purpose of considering the tax problem and it was thought probable that the rate would be set at the meeting.

The reason for the delay was caused by a difference of opinion on the necessary rate arising between Councilman Asa Hall and Controller Saulsberry.

* * *

THE difference amounted to six cents per hundred dollars. This amount on first thought does not seem much, but if it should be the cause of our rate being higher than Los Angeles and other surrounding cities, the harm it would accomplish could not be overestimated. For several reasons there should be no hesitation on the part of the city council in backing Mr. Hall's recommendation by a unanimous vote.

* * *

IN the first place, he is an expert on tax matters. His service of ten years in preparing the tax levies for the city of Los Angeles fully justifies the acceptance of his recommendation without any reservations or hesitation. Mr. Hall at the last election received the greatest number of votes of all the candidates and this vote was undoubtedly on account of his qualifications in tax matters. The main reason for the difference in the rates suggested by the city controller and Councilman Hall is accounted for by the city controller wanting to deduct 7 per cent for tax delinquency, while Mr. Hall claims 3 per cent to be enough.

* * *

INASMUCH as 3 per cent is generally accepted as a sufficient deduction by other localities, and along with the fact that in former years no deduction was made, it seems to us that there is no room for argument.

Another thing to take into consideration is the fact that there was carried over in the reserve fund this year over $80,000 against only $15,000 last year, so the controller should not worry over such a small amount as $25,122.18, which the difference in rate figures.

* * *

COUNCILMAN DAVIS was the only other councilman who entered into the discussion, he siding with the views of the controller. Among other things he said: "I see no reason for going to Los Angeles. We should make the tax rate for Glendale in Glendale. Mr. Saulsberry is the controller. He ought to know. If he don't know, we ought to get rid of him."

We would not favor such an attitude as this. If the Los Angeles records or if the experience of its officials can aid us any in the administration of our affairs we should not hesitate to use them. A small city cannot expect to have men in the employ of the city with the experience of those of the larger city. We cannot pay large enough salaries to attract these men.

* * *

WE do live to learn and we cannot do it so well by ourselves as we can by the mistakes and experience of others The best system is none too good for us—let's have it.

FRIENDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO MR. BURTON

Builder of Montrose Line Is Laid to Rest in Forest Lawn

REV. TINNING SPEAKS

Miss Mottern Sings and Floral Tokens Are Many

At Forest Lawn the Little Church of the Flowers was filled Tuesday afternoon with sorrowing friends and relatives who came to pay their last tribute to the memory of J. W. M. Burton whose body was laid to rest beside those of his two daughters in the memorial park.

The service was conducted by Rev. Louis Tinning of the Glendale Presbyterian church who made a short, comforting address following a scripture reading in which he argued that death, sorrowful as it is for those who survive is not the important thing but rather life, rightly lived.

Miss Elizabeth Mottern sang "Face to Face" and "When Peace Like a River." Very beautiful floral tributes from the Elks' lodge, masonic bodies, and personal friends surrounded the casket, and those who bore it to the grave were: George Paine, Stanley Frentz, Bert Woodard, Oma Fish, W. M. Kimball, Willis Heald and Willis Heald. Mrs. Burton was supported by her brother, Robert Walton, her brother-in-law, Ossie Burton, and a group of intimate friends.

C. OF C. OUT FOR BRIDGE OVER RIVER

To Extend Activities for One Closer to Griffith Park

WILSON URGES PLAN

Kitterman Submits Resolution on Los Feliz Hill Improvement

At the very well attended meeting of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening, Lloyd Wilson urged needed improvements in connection with Los Feliz road, declaring the hill to be a very dangerous proposition, responsible for an accident every other day, on the average.

He stressed the importance of a new bridge and expressed the conviction he could secure subscriptions toward it of $10,000 if the chamber and the city council would help.

Mr. Kitterman objected to the proposition, declaring it should be brought about without public subscription, and he offered the following motion:

"That the Glendale Chamber of Commerce extend its activities toward increasing bridge facilities and the improvement of Los Feliz road from the P. E. tracks to the top of Los Feliz hill. Also that it extend its activities in the direction of securing a bridge in closer proximity to Griffith park."

This motion, seconded by Pendroy, carried, and was referred to the highways and bridges committee.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE URGED ON C. OF C.

At its last meeting Chamber of Commerce directors were addressed by the Tujunga chamber in regard to bus franchises now before the Glendale city council. The communication was referred to the transportation committee.

A communication from E. E. East, engineer of the Auto Club of Southern California, was referred to the Highways and Bridges committee. In the letter Mr. East urged that Glendale provide greater facilities for traffic at once by widening streets, by getting two new bridges, one to be thrown across the river at Los Feliz and Glendale boulevard; by lowering the road to go under the Southern Pacific tracks on Glendale boulevard as a measure of safety.

JUDGE M'DANIELS DISMISSES FIRST LOS FELIZ SUIT

The Assessment Action Against Frank H. Green Is Cancelled

The first case in the Los Feliz road tax assessment suits was dismissed by Judge E. P. McDaniels in the superior court yesterday on the demurrer by H. P. Wende, representing the defendant, Frank H. Green of West Myrtle street. The action was originally brought against L. W. Richardson by Steddum and Blanchard, Los Angeles bond brokers, and the same demurrer filed for the Richardson-Green suit answers for all the others. Separate actions and trials will be necessary.

In the Richardson-Green case both Steddum and Blanchard were in court. After the dismissal Mr. Wende offered to pay the small assessment of $6.98 against Green's property. He also offered the attorney fee. His offers were not accepted. The assessment was cancelled on the dismissal of the case.

Answers to the actions were originally called for within ten days, but Judge Charles S. Crail of the superior court of Los Angeles county granted a preliminary restraining order on all the pending actions, awaiting the hearing and determination in the demurrer in the Richardson-Green action.

There are over 80 other answers in actions already filed of the 250 delinquents interested. The number of answers will probably exceed 100 when all are filed.

GLENDALIAN ENTERS BANK IN HOLLYWOOD

John Camphouse of Glendale has been elected vice president and cashier of The Central Commercial and Savings Bank situated in Hollywood, resigning his position as examiner for the State Banking Department.

Mr. Camphouse became identified with the banking department by appointment of Jonathan S. Dodge, following the death of George James last winter and continuing with the department under the present superintendent of banks, John Franklin Johnson.

Prior to that time he was engaged for sixteen years in the banking business in Los Angeles, being associated with The Farmers & Merchants National Bank for nearly thirteen years, rising from bank messenger through the various departments to the position of auditor. He was also connected with the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, Union Bank & Trust Company, and held the position of Examiner with Los Angeles Clearing House association.

In addition to his diversified interests in the banking profession, Mr. Camphouse has found time to instruct classes in banking, being a member of the faculty of the University of California Extension Division.

He has been a resident of Glendale for over twelve years, and besides his other activities has been interested in Sunday school work and other religious activities.

PARKING LAW IS TAKEN UP BY C. OF C.

Parking problems came in for considerable discussion at the meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors last night following a protest on the part of a Los Angeles wholesaler that he was unable to conveniently deliver goods to customers who have no back alley facilities. On motion of Director Kitterman it was finally referred to the civics committee for consideration and report. During the discussion Mr. Kitterman remarked that "the parking problem has been with us ever since we established hitching posts in front of the town hall. Sooner or later we are going to have drastic ordinances in regard to parking which will move those cars off the street."

COUNCIL FAILS TO FIX CITY TAX LEVY FOR THE CURRENT YEAR'S BUDGET

Councilman Hall and Controller Deadlock Over Deductions for Delinquency in Payments of Taxes

SAULSBERRY IS CALLED ON TO EXPLAIN

Meeting Is Slow to Get Into Action and Passes the Decision on to Another Meeting on Next Thursday Evening

By GERTRUDE GIBBS

Expectations raised by the announcement of a special session of the city council last night to consider the tax rate for the city of Glendale were disappointed. The rate was not fixed last night and will not be until Thursday, and the deadlock between Controller Saulsberry and Councilman Asa Hall appeared to be unyielding.

The full council was present, with Mayor Spencer Robinson presiding. Sam Davis backed Saulsberry and the three other councilmen waited to be shown.

Although the session was called for 7 p. m., not until 8:20 did councilmen begin to straggle into the chamber from a meeting of the committee of the whole in which the matter had been debated.

No feverish anxiety to take up the question in open session manifested itself.

Several realtors were on hand to submit maps of new subdivisions.

Over these maps councilmen hung in rapt attention and the map offered by Arthur Campbell of the subdivision of Dan Campbell's acreage to be known as Campbell Heights was approved subject to the renaming of portions of a circling street. A map was offered by J. I. Wernette of property in the northwest and another by a third party of property on Palmer avenue in the neighborhood of Glendale Heights, but no action was taken.

When these diversions nalled the city clerk asked and received permission to advertise for bids for pipe.

Councilman Kimlin then remarked it was his understanding that the session had been called to consider the tax levy and wouldn't it be well to take the matter up.

Mayor Robinson asked if any one in the audience wished to discuss the matter. One man responded that he had come to hear a discussion, not to discuss.

Councilman Kimlin then suggested that Controller Saulsberry explain how he had arrived at the figures ($1.14) submitted at the last meeting, and Mr. Saulsberry arose, and faced the council. As he was chewing gum and talking at the same time he was not easily understood.

"Take that gum out of your mouth and face the audience," commanded Councilman Davis. The controller obeyed, carefully gumming the offending quid to the railing of the platform where it could be retrieved when he had finished.

Even then it was not easy to follow his low-toned, colorless, restrained recital of his methods of computation. But his disgression from the figures achieved by Councilman Hall appeared to begin with his allowance of 7 per cent deduction from assessed valuation for tax delinquency, which, he declared was justified by the delinquent taxes of the past year. This, he said, would make necessary a rate of 96 cents per $100 of valuation for the general budget.

He stated that many separate assessments had to be made for the sinking fund to cover interest and redemption of bond issues because they could not be combined. In several instances a fraction of 1 cent would be sufficient to cover the amount required, but the law forbids a single assessment of less than 1 cent. He cited one instance where a quarter of a cent would return more than enough. The 1 cent rate would produce $2000, while the sum to be covered is but $100, thus providing an excess of $1900, but, he explained, although his money could be used only for the purpose for which the tax was levied, it could be held in the treasury to pay such obligations for two or three years to come and would not have to be provided for in the next year's budget.

He referred to the city's need of money for the improvement of streets in front of school property, and declared a rate of 92½ cents for general purposes which had been proposed, would make the city budget short about $10,000 as against a surplus last year of $24,000.

He commented on the increase of the city's reserve fund from $15,000 to $80,000 and reminded his hearers when the city had been practically bankrupt so far as ready cash was concerned and city employes had to discount their warrants for months; also the delays the city suffered in securing pipe and other supplies because it had not the cash to pay for them.

"Last year," said he, "the city government borrowed from the public service department $44,000, together with the $15,000 reserve fund on which to operate until the tax money came in December. Contemplated expeditures this year for water extensions, etc., call for $275,000 in the new districts being opened up.

"The charter provides for 30 per cent of the entire budget for a reserve fund on which to operate during the four months preceding tax collection. The entire budget is $367,000 or $110,000 for the general reserve. If it ever gets up to the maximum point, any excess will have to be used to reduce taxes the next year.

Councilman Hall took issue with several statements made by the controller, declaring it is possible to combine district levies for sinking funds, that he had done it in Los Angeles. He also took issue with the allowance of 7 per cent for tax delinquence, insisting that 3 per cent would cover it.

Councilman Horn then said: "As I see it, both these fellows are trying to get the tax levy as low as possible. It is just a question of getting it where it is safe and fair. Let's not fix it tonight. Let them go over it again and see if they cannot get closer together. They are 8 cents apart on the rate."

Councilman Hall: "From 1910 to 1920 my tax levies for the city of Los Angeles were checked by the comptroller's office, which never found an error in my figures.

"The charter says you shall maintain a reserve fund of sufficient amount to keep departments on a cash basis. You must have money to run for four months.

Saulsberry: "The expenditures run about $27,000 per month or for four months, $108,000, and added to that should be $36,000 for capital outlay or $144,000 for operation from the first of July to the first of December."

Mayor Robinson: "Mr. Saulsberry thinks $1.14 would be about right. Mr. Hall thinks $1.08 would be right. We want to be sure. Three years ago we didn't have enough and were $25,000 in the hole."

Councilman Horn: "Mr. Saulsberry would reduce it 41 cents, Mr Hall, 49 cents. Let them go to Los Angeles and consult officials and statistics there and see if they cannot get together."

Councilman Hall: "Seven per cent of valuation for delinquency is too much. I claim 3 per cent is enough and I am basing it on my own experience."

Saulsberry: "I do not think conditions in Los Angeles county should govern here. I will go to Los Angeles with Mr. Hall if the council instructs me to do so, but I am going to be very hard to convince."

Councilman Hall: "I am willing to use the Glendale figures, but I want to get them from the Los Angeles records."

Councilman Davis: "I see no reason for going to Los Angeles. We should make the tax rate for Glendale in Glendale. Mr. Saulsberry is the controller. He ought to know. If he didn't know, we ought to get rid of him."

With the understanding that Messrs. Hall and Saulsberry would confer further between now and Thursday, the meeting adjourned.

PARK PURCHASE IS REJECTED BY C. OF C.

Spanish War Veterans' Resolution Turned Down by Directors

At the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting Tuesday night, members were not favorably disposed toward action at this time on a recommendation contained in a letter from Camp No. 67, Spanish War Veterans, signed by Commander Mabry and two other officials, urging the repurchase from Haddock & Nibley of the park now known as "Happiland." Director Gregg argued that bonds for sewers were the paramount issue and he considered the park proposition inopportune. On motion of Director Lusby the board voted for the appointment of a committee of three to wait upon the camp and explain the attitude of the board.

KIWANIS TO APPEAR IN NEWS FILM

Glendale Press Animated Weekly to Show Members

GATEWAY, SUNDAY

Screen Publicity to Be Donated to Chamber of Commerce Later

The nearness of Hollywood and its friendly attitude towards Glendale has had its insidious effect. Members of the Kiwanis club have been first to succumb and break into the movies. Next Friday they will be caught by the cameras as they emerge from their luncheon at the Tuesday Afternoon club by the photographers of the "Glendale Press Animated Weekly" which is to be edited and directed by G. B. Harney, who has won fame for publicity films made for Los Angeles, Hollywood, South Pasadena and other cities. The first showing of the Kiwanis film will be made Sunday at the Gateway theater in this city.

It will be the first scene in a publicity film of considerable length which will follow the lines of the Fox and Pathe news except that it will be limited to county or Glendale events. The effort will be to show the advantages of Glendale as a place in which to live, and after it has been filmed and shown here, it will be presented to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce for use in its publicity campaigns.

JURY CALLED IN PARKING CASE

At 10 o'clock this morning an effort was made to impanel a jury for the trial of a case brought by the city against John Veilik charged with parking his automobile in front of the T. D. & L. theater at 10 a. m. He asked for a jury trial and it is understood his defense was that the theatre was not open at that hour. The action is brought under No. 635 of city ordinances which prohibits parking in front of theatres, churches or public buildings so there was no obstruction in case of fire or in the case of an injured person to be carried out on a stretcher.

The case was tried in Judge Lowe's court by Leslie Tarr, assistant city attorney, City Attorney Morrow having another case in Los Angeles. The arresting officer was Capt. W. A. Loving.

A special feature for the regular Community Service dancing party to be held Thursday night of this week in the ballroom of the Tuesday Afternoon club house will be a solo dance by Misses Evelyn and Leona Hunt, who will do the "Poppy Dance." There will also be a favor dance and other attractions. Those desiring to attend should register at the Community Service headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce.

TWO RECORDS OF BUILDING ARE BROKEN

Total of 1923 to Date Exceeds All of the Year 1922

AUGUST, 1922, BEATEN

Lloyd Wilson's New $33,000 Building Is Big Boost

At the meeting of the city council last night a visitor in the audience was heard to remark that "Glendale has only just begun to grow." In confirmation of his optimistic prediction, building permits for the city issued yesterday made another jump which brought the total for the month of August to date to $612,653 against an August total last year of 394,204, also bringing the total for the year to date to $6,246,624, against a total for all of 1922 of $6,305,971. In other words, building permits to date exceed last year's permits by over $40,000.

For the big boost given permits yesterday, a $33,000 building to be erected on San Fernando road by Lloyd Wilson is largely responsible, a permit for a $7,000 garage increasing permits to $40,000.

At this rate it will be hard to stop Glendale.

C. OF C. POLICY TO BE DISPLAYED

Echoes of the letter given by Chamber of Commerce directors to the Rogers Una Drive Motor company inviting it to locate in Glendale, came up at a directors' meeting last night and in order to establish the policy of the board relative to stock-selling propositions, Mr. Kitterman offered a resolution to this effect: "That while we welcome and invite industry to locate in Glendale, in inviting it we in no way indorse or recommend the sale of stock or securities or any form of investment offered by either the corporation itself or through its solicitors; that the matter of investments be left solely with the people of Glendale to determine merit or lack of merit."

Later, Mr. Kitterman withdrew the resolution in favor of a motion by Director Lusby that a committee of three be appointed to draft such a resolution which could be printed and hung upon the wall or otherwise displayed, and President Jesse Smith named Directors Kitterman, Hayselden and Gregg as members of such committee.

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair tonight and Thursday, except cloudy or foggy tonight and tomorrow near the coast; gentle winds mostly westerly.

CITY PLANNING TO BE PRESENTED

Five new members were voted into the Chamber of Commerce by directors at their evening session yesterday, viz., Rhoades & Smith, realtors; Smith & Smith, auto sales agency; Frank Meline Co., realtors; Nash Sales Co.

Directors then listened to committee chairmen.

W. L. Twining as chairman of advertising and publicity made a highly satisfactory report of the work of his committee and asked that new letter heads purchased for the use of the chamber bear some advertisement of Glendale on the reverse side of the sheet. Secretary Sanders was authorized to secure 5,000 new letter heads and to confer with the advertising committee relative to the carrying out of the suggestion.

Attorney James McBryde addressed the chamber on how to secure a city planning commission declaring it would be an excellent thing for the city and that provision is made for it in the charter. So important was the matter deemed that directors voted for the appointment of a special committee of three to take up the question with the city council, with the understanding that the committee would be appointed without delay.

Attorney Bert Woodard reported that because of the death of President Harding the Los Angeles Board of Freeholders did not hold its meeting at the time set but will hold one August 23 which he will attend.

Director Kitterman, chairman of the special post office committee, reported co-operation with Postmaster Jackson in the locating of a new post office site.

Because director Hewitt had been called away by the illness of his father, the budget committee asked for further time in which to make a report on the financial condition of the chamber.

ENTERTAINS AT L. A. THEATRE

Mrs. Harriet Thompson of North Brand boulevard, Glendale, entertained with a dinner and theatre party in Los Angeles on Tuesday night, complimenting Miss Rose Redmond and Miss Mary Redmond, who were former friends of Mrs. Thompson's at Kansas City. The Misses Redmond have been touring California since attending the summer session at the University of California at Berkeley and are now stopping in Los Angeles.

Those present at the dinner and theatre party included Miss Rose Redmond, Miss Mary Redmond, Miss Dorothy Watson, Miss Ruth Ryan and the hostess, Mrs. Harriet Thompson.

AIDA PRODUCTION BEFORE C. OF C.

Directors of Commerce were addressed Tuesday night by a Mr. Bevini of the Aida Grand Opera company which is to put on a sumptuous production of that opera in Hollywood Bowl in September, in which 500 will take part. He asked the co-operation of the board in advertising and promoting what he declared would be the greatest production ever presented on the Pacific Coast.

ENGLAND BARS DIVORCE DETAILS

LONDON, Aug. 22—British newspapers soon will cease to carry detailed reports of evidence given in divorce cases.

The house of commons committee, which has been considering this question for some time, recommends that newspapers be permitted to publish only the statement of the petitioner, the defense, the judge's summing up, any points of law which may arise during trial and the jury's findings and judgment. The names of witnesses may be given, but not their evidence.

The committee also recommends that the scope of a bill carrying these suggestions should be widened to include the prohibition of reports of matter that is indecent in all proceedings before a judicial bench.

"Brethern," said the Rev. Mr. Goodman, smiling benignantly at the congregation, "the janitor and I will hold our regular weekly prayer meeting next Wednesday evening, as usual. I scarcely need say that if any of you can spare the time to attend you will be heartily welcome. We will sing the long-meter doxology and be dismissed."—Chicago Tribune.

'BULL' OF HOLLYWOOD

Bull Montana, light heavyweight wrestler, and well known screen beauty (?), who will grapple with John Hackenschmidt in Glendale Labor Day. The match will be held under the auspices of the Glendale post of the American Legion.

Montana-Hackenschmidt Bout Is Scheduled For Sept. 3 By The Legion

Full Card of Sports Is Announced for Labor Day by the Local American Legion Post, to Be Held at Place Not Yet Selected

A little difference of long standing is to be settled finally when Bull Montana, screendom's ugliest star, and John Hackenschmidt, another film pippin, meet on the mat in Glendale for the best two out of three falls. The controversy between the two grapplers started several years ago out on the Metro lot in Hollywood, when one of the huskies threatened to snatch the celluloid laurels from his co-star. Enterprising press agents took occasion to rush into print, with a small newspaper row as the result.

However, it remained for Chalmers Day, commander of the Glendale American Legion post to arrange the match between the two light heavyweights who had been chasing each other for years. Both wrestlers earned enviable mat records before breaking into the movies and they continue to [illegible] in the film firmament.

The Montana-Hackenschmidt match has been assured for the final number of a wrestling and boxing card put out by the Legionnaires which will be staged here on the night of September 3. The two grapplers have signed for a match not to exceed one and one-half hours for the best two out of three falls.

While Bull has a host of admirers here, Hackenschmidt probably will be the local favorite, the big boy who impersonated "War" in Rex Ingraham's "Four Horsemen of the Apocolypse" being a Glendale product.

The rest of the card will be devoted to boxing, the matches having been arranged by Lester Marston, member of the Legion boxing committee.

The card as put out yesterday by Commander Day announces a four-round go between Jack Carr of Glendale and Young Joe Rivers of Los Angeles as a curtain raiser. The local flyweight has a record of four knockouts and only one defeat, having lost to Ernnie Hood of Pasadena.

Young Woodley of San Francisco will take on Freddie Klagge of Pasadena for the special which is scheduled to go four rounds. Klagge is the chap who only last month dealt the sleep potion to Essex at Pasadena.

Johnnie Meyers, one of the Glendale fire boys, will meet Arizona Wildcat from Burbank in the semi-final. Meyers began his fistic career some 10 years ago and formerly was one of the bright spots at Vernon. The Wildcat is reputed to wield a glove which sticks like the cactus of his native state.

The boxing matches will be refereed by "Chick" Watson. Chick is some little fighter himself, and having met both Meyers and the Arizona lad in former bouts he says he doesn't care which one of 'em wins. But the boys will have to fight, Chick says.

The Labor Day card is being promoted by the local Legion post and under the supervision of the boxing committee which is composed of the following Legionnaires: Commander Day, Lester Marston, William Reeves, Captain Witmeyer, G. L. Kaeding, R. J. Corrigan and A. Sherbon.

Australia to Inaugurate New Federal Capital

MELBOURNE, Aug. 22. — The next session of the Australian parliament will be in Canberra, the new Federal capital which, like Washington, D. C., is a city located and planned for the special purpose of being a national capital. The Australian capital was laid out by an American architect, Walter Burley Griffin, of Chicago.

Canberra is situated on a splendid undulating plateau about 2000 feet above sea level, a little to the north of the highest peaks of the Australian Alps. The city site is divided by three large sheets of water, supplied by the sluggish Molonglo river, and adorned by parks and boulevards. The parliament house and government buildings will face a central lake with streets laid out in octagonal form around them. On one side will be a fan-shaped residential quarter; on the other the university, municipal and industrial centers. Main thoroughfares will radiate from the parliament building.

Always prepare for the worst—the best is able to provide for itself.

'RAGGED EDGE' AT T. D. & L. TONIGHT

"The Ragged Edge," to be shown at the T. D. and L. theater, has proved to be an absorbing love and mystery story with beautiful scenic effects. It was made into a photoplay by the Distinctive Pictures Corporation from Harold MacGrath's romance of the South Seas, and brought to the fore Alfred Lunt and Mimi Palmeri, who gave splendid performances of "two young fools" who find happiness in a far-off land.

Miss Palmeri is the new screen Cinderella whose portrait in a fashion magazine last year led to her engagement by the Distinctive company. The beauty which attracted attention to her is revealed in countless scenes. Lunt is the famous star of the legitimate stage who made his film debut in "Backbone."

Harmon Weight directed this picture. It is the story of a young American who flees from home because of a misdeed which preys on his conscience. He meets the girl in Canton. She, too, has fled from her home because her father, a missionary, had denied her love and sympathy. The two marry. It is through the devotion of the young wife that the fugitive American is made to stand on his own feet. What his guilt was and how he is cleared, form the mystery of the story and make of it absorbing screen entertainment.

Summer Readers Want Stories of Adventure

[By Associated Press]

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The summertime reader would rather have a true account of pirates or shooting seals in the Arctic than even a love story, declares Nathan R. Levin, assistant librarian of the Chicago public library, who has been studying the tastes of the general reader for years.

"That does not mean that the love story has become unfashionable," Mr. Levin added. "It means rather that at vacation time everybody temporarily forgets his desire to get on in his own business or personal affairs and prefers to read about cinnamon-colored savages of the South Seas or trapping wombats in the wilds of Australia."

Fools invest first and investigate later.

MAYOR ROBINSON RETURNS TO CITY

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who returned last night to his seat in the city council, seemed much benefitted by his auto and fishing tour of the north on which he was accompanied by his son, Dean Tyler Robinson. They visited Diamond Crater, Klamath and Odell lakes, getting the limit in each place and tremendously enjoying the cool crisp nights and mornings. They also followed the Mackenzie river for 90 miles, fishing all the way, and likewise the Rogue river. On the way to Crater lake they met Mr. Nibley of Haddock & Nibley, accompanied by his three boys, and the surprise was mutual.

Everywhere the mayor went he advertised Glendale on his car, and everywhere he stopped a crowd collected around it to ask about the wonder city of Southern California. One such inquirer whom the mayor found waiting beside the Studebaker was Mr. Hoyt, one of the big lumbermen of the northwest, who maintains a camp and cottage with cook and guide in charge for the benefit of his friends as well as himself. When he found Mr. Robinson was mayor of Glendale, he insisted upon him being his guest at the mountain cabin and never, declares the mayor, was he more royally entertained.

Mrs. Robinson is visiting friends in Seattle and will return by train.

DENTISTRY WAS ART OF INDIAN

MILES CITY, Mont., Aug. 22.—Railroad grading crews working near here have unearthed a human skull, identified as that of an Indian, containing a gold tooth shaped from a solid gold nugget. The workmanship of the tooth seems to indicate that it was made by the Indian himself, or one of his tribe, and, while it is somewhat crude, judged by present-day standards, it is believed to prove that Indians long years ago had a knowledge of the use of gold in dentistry.

Truths in Epigram

Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? — New Testament.

Flowers seem intended for the solace of ordinary humanity.—Ruskin.

All the tools and engines on earth are only extensions of its limbs and senses.—Emerson.

AS THE FACTS APPEAR

In their valiant fight against "invisible government" the good people of Los Angeles have at least succeeded in lessening the invisibility. The once hidden government comes into actual view. At first dimly outlined, the structure has been revealed. The question naturally arises whether the people who have turned on thel ight propose to let the offenders wriggle back into the shadows.

The trouble centers about the police department. Two men in particular, one named Parrot and the other Higgins, seem to have been runing this department, although either had a shred of authority. They would give orders to the chief. He did not take the orders kindly. The next thing he realized was that he was on the outside, thrown out by the mayor. At the same time an effort had been made to blacken the reputation of the ousted chief. An affidavit came forth stating that he had been guilty of reprehensible conduct. It is fair to say that to the public this failed to appeal as having the stamp of truth.

By this episode is made clear the circumstance that, however invisible the secret government had been to citizens in general, it never had been invisible to the executive head of the city. On the contrary, if he is not definitely allied with it, and if he himself has not been obeying direction from it, the time has come for him to take in the signs indicative of the contrary. No mayor possesses the perspicuity to serve two masters, and no wise mayor could be induced to continue the attempt. A point to be considered seriously is as to which master the mayor is serving now. If he is committed to the once invisible, but since exposed spurious sway of politicians, how his usefulness to the community is to continue, becomes a problem. It is so important a problem that probably both he and his constituents are thinking about it.

MONUMENTS TO HARDING

There will be various memorials to the late President Harding. Many a shaft will bear his name. The work of the artist will preserve familiarity with the well-known features. But the proudest monu- to President Harding [illegible] thought. Not in stone nor bronze will this find perpetuity, but in the record of human history where are written the fine achievements of statesmen. Calmly as was his wont, wisely, as nature had equipped him to do, President Harding had turned his eyes into the future; into the future that none may read in detail, but where abide mighty truths appealing to the alert judgment. He knew that the happiness of the race depended on peace. He set about the task of formulating plans for peace to rest on a permanent basis. So he called the nations together to arrange disarmament. He prevailed upon them so to agree on the conduct of the vast Pacific area that from it should vanish all threat of war. Success blessed these benign efforts. No people is desirous of war. All peoples not maddened by stress of circumstances, are glad to be rid of the burden of preparation, and the tragedy of battle. They listened gladly, and they acquiesced without demur. There was triumph indeed. There was a victory worth celebrating with sounding bells of joy.

As the President lay dying the papers recording, and making effective his great work, were almost ready. Since he has passed away, the last formalities of endorsement have been completed. The treaties and agreements that mean so much to the world are now in force.

It is singular that Americans, even some professing to belong to the same political organization with the President, should have fought with bitterness a scheme in every way so noble and splendid. But there were such. They do not seem to realize how good for humanity it is that their opposition counted for nothing, and their puny rancor was without influence save to stir contempt.

MORE "DIRECT ACTION"

There are reasons for believing that the great oil fire was the result of incendiarism. It caused vast loss, and placed the lives and property of many innocent persons in peril. What madness may it be that conceives that in wanton destructiveness there is the possibility of changing any condition for the better? In the utter wiping out of the holdngs of any oil company there could be nothing but loss. Even the man applying the torch would be unable to perceive any sort of advantage acquired by himself. He has obliterated a certain amount of wealth. To that extent he had made the world poorer. If he resents the visible evidence of prosperity, because of a notion that he has not participated according to his rights, he excludes himself from the possibility of future participation.

If there is any reason at present why labor, whatever the form of activity it may be engaged in, should be dissatisfied, the reason is not apparent. Work is bountiful and wages are high. The skilled artisan practically names his own wages, and the figure is fixed at no stingy scale. The fellow who is disgruntled is likely to be not the man who works, or desires to work, but the chronic idler, to whom the proffer of a job would be an affront. This malign creature fancies that "direct action," as he terms it, is the way of economic salvation. He devotes such energy as he possesses to tearing down what has been accomplished by others. The theory by which he is guided has no ground in fact or logic, being the fantasy of a mind diseased.

PERILS OF INDUSTRY

A bricklayer working at the twelfth story of a hotel, fell to the pavement, being instantly killed. His was the second fatality marking the construction of the building. Every day there are similar accidents. There is no human occupation devoid of danger. There is no position of fancied security that may not be invaded by some deadly peril. Explosions, fires, breaking machinery, falling walls, are a few of the possibilities that come to mind; only a few of many. Unsuspected gas detonates in the deeps of the mine, or lightning singles out a vessel at sea.

Despite the daily showing of disasters there have been great improvements in the methods for conserving human safety. When the erection of steel frame buildings first was undertaken there used to be a saying based on mortality figures that a man was killed for every floor. This was due largely to the practice of leaving the floors uncovered so that the fall of a person or of material from the top, meant a plunge to the bottom of the basement. But absolute protection there cannot be, although this particular form of peril has been eliminated.

The accidents that might be avoided, but are not, on the contrary, seeming to be invited, pertain mostly to traffic. The slaughter by automobiles is for the most part wholly needless. No excuse exists for attempting to rush over a grade crossing just ahead of a swiftly approaching train. Violation of the rules of the road, the cause of many deaths, is an offense not to be condoned.

A gentleman named Edgar A. Bancroft lately stated in an address at Chicago that there is no shortage of food in the Ruhr. He added that there were no visible indications of friction between the French soldiers and the inhabitants. It would be a pleasure to believe Mr. Bancroft. People who keep reasonably well informed will, however, have to forego this particular pleasure.

"Vanished Race to Be Traced." Good! There always has been curiosity as to what became of the populists.

ABANDONING THE HELPLESS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

There is now one court in Los Angeles where spectators who come to extra amusement from the misery of their fellows will be compelled to suppress the signs of any merriment they may there discover.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

If you laugh in the court of Judge Howard A. Peairs of Bakersfield, temporarily filling the bench for Judge Summerfield, you will be summarily ejected.

Let us rise and give thanks. Going to divorce court for a laugh has about it a ghoulish quality that makes decent folk shudder. No doubt quarrelsome and frivolous people do absurd things to each other when they are angry but divorce court can never be anything but a place of tragedy, disappointment and heartache. There may be a laugh here and there, just as there may be a pearl in the putrid mass that was once an oyster . But ask those who have explored the remains of oysters for pearls how they like the task. We can only enjoy pearls because somebody else extracts them from filth.

But the divorce court fan takes his fun first hand, rooting in the mire for it. What he really enjoys is not the occasional laugh; it is the sight of pain, the twisted lips, the tearful eyes, the despair, the risque evidence, the sight of decent men and women writhing under what fate has handed to them.

"This is an awful and horrible place to come," said his honor. "Spectators who can not suppress their levity will be ejected from the court room by the bailiff."

All of which reminds me of a story told me some years ago by the late Hector Alliott, as gentle a gentleman as ever trod the earth. Dr. Alliott was talking of the unconscious cruelty of ignorant and backward people and he said that some years before he had been traveling in Mexico. At a small inland station a family got on the train. There was a father and mother and several children, some of whom were nearly grown. The parents were the victims of a mine explosion and their faces had been terribly burned. Dr. Alliott, smitten with pity, went and bought food for the family and, when he had given it to them, he returned to his place in the car.

Within a few moments he saw the parents in the most extraordinary contortions and the older children curled up with glee. They had put red pepper in the food "for fun."

It is an ugly story, but I could not help thinking of it when I read of the laughs that His Honor Judge Peairs has suppressed in divorce court.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

The firm of Perkins and Vale, Appraisers and Valuers, is about to break up. Vale says he will have no more of Perkins. Perkins is dissatisfied with Vale. Yet for years they were the closest friends. Learned to swim in the same mud hole. Married into the same set. Have never been associated with any one else in business.

"Trouble is," says Johnny Vale, "Bud is trying to cut me over to fit his measure."

Come to think of it, I've seen Bud in action. Bud is an earnest, sincere, lovable little cuss who must have his finger in every pie. When Johnny comes down in the morning Bud wants to know why he isn't wearing a soft collar:

"Like this. See," says Bud, pointing with the pregnant forefinger. "I'll send out and get you one, Johnny. They're fine."

So Johnny either has to submit to a soft collar, which he detests, or have a morning battle with his partner. When they go out of town on business trips Bud wants to fix the hours for going to bed and getting up. He tries to prescribe Johnny's morning coffee and his afternoon tea. He wants to know where Johnny has been if that young business man crawls out between the teeth of the harrow for a few hours. He watches Johnny's cigarettes and his calendar.

"It's the fifteenth of the month," he will say. "This is the day to get your hair cut. Tell him to cut it short behind—like mine."

In the end Johnny kicked over the traces. Yet he knows that Bud Perkins loves him far more than brothers usually love each other. Every word of admonition and warning and instruction and query and nag and prod has been prompted by an affection that is rooted in the depths of Bud's being. He cannot understand why Johnny insists on a break. Even after he has been told he cannot understand.

"And the tought part of it is," wails Johnny, "that I'm just as fond of Bud. But he pesters me so!"

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

The evil tongue.
Dropping the word of suspicion.
Like the dropping of some dye into clear, uncolored water.

Sending the tint of the dye through the water.

* * *

Like the tiny worm.
Boring its way through the solid wood.
Until it lays its grub.
And the fibre of the wood becomes unsound and rotten.

* * *

The tiny hole in the tire.
Through which the air escapes until it becomes flat and unusable.
The hole in the dam.
Through which the water trickles until a flood is released.

* * *

The beautiful vase is a thing of wonder and beauty.
Until someone shows an imperfection in its surface somewhere.
And then the value of the vase diminishes.
And we lose the admiration we had for it.

* * *

We set up an ideal.
Either in men or in philosophy.
And the evil tongue drops its poison.
And the ideal dies.
For inevitably the poison of suspicion and criticism and slander does its work.

* * *

Strive against it as we may, the clear water of idealism is dyed.
The crack in the vase is revealed.
The glory of the thing we worshipped is gone.
All because an evil word was said hastily, thoughtlessly, cruelly.

* * *

Slander and suspicion and gossip and the other slime of the reckless tongue are the grubs laid in the wood of the tree.
In the heart of the flower.
In the fibre of the fruit.
To hatch out their destroying worms.

* * *

What man or woman in high place has escaped the poison of the evil tongue?
The thoughtless and bitter speech.
The venom of the envious and the jealous and the hateful.

* * *

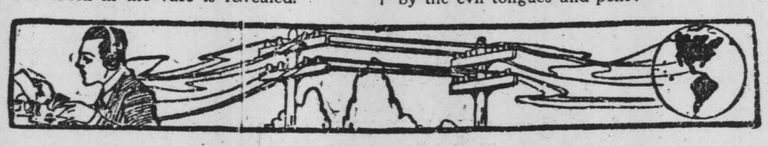
From the first formation of the country the heads of it have been slandered and slimed almost without exception.
The defamation of men in high place has been almost a practiced and designed thing.
For the purposes of politics and personal ambition and selfishness.

* * *

From Washington to Harding none have escaped.
Men striving to do their duty by and for the nation, reviled, abused, slandered, poisoned in their hearts and souls by the venom of the jealous, the envious, the bitter and the little.

* * *

We speak of lessening the loads of work borne by presidents.
Can we not lessen the bitterness heaped upon them and the abuse piled on bitterness and the slanders hurled and the poison squirted by the evil tongues and pens?



Songs of the Poets

Indian Summer—By Emily Dickson

These are the days when birds come back,
A very few, a bird or two,
To take a backward look.

These are the days when skies put on
The old, old sophistries of June,—
A blue and gold mistake.

Oh, fraud that cannot cheat the bee,
Almost that plausibility
Induces my belief.

Till ranks of seeds their witness bear,
And softly through the altered air
Hurries a timid leaf!

Oh, sacrament of summer days,
Oh, last communion in the haze,
Permit a child to join,

Thy sacred emblems to partake,
Thy consecrated bread to break,
Taste thine immortal wine!

BUSINESS COMING OF AGE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A MAN may be said to come of age when he has reached the point where he realizes his responsibilities and adjusts his life to the claims that his fellow men have upon him.

In other words, real coming of age means the development of conscience.

Until this era of the world Business may be said to have been in its nonage. That is, Business was supposed to be strictly cold blooded and unscrupulous, its sole object being to acquire property and make profits.

Men in all other walks of life were supposed to have civic duties and a certain sense of honor. Doctors had their code of ethics. Lawyers were supposed to have a certain responsibility to the state. Preachers of course were presumed to be highly endowed with public conscience. And gentlemen (by which term was usually meant endowed loafers) were commonly understood to be the most honorable of all men. Even soldiers, whose business was organized mayhem and murder, had their strict codes of honor, as for instance it was deemed honorable to thrust a lance through a gentleman's stomach but entirely reprehensible to insert a dose of poison into said stomach.

The business man, however, was not supposed to have any scruples. He was to get money, by fair means if possible, but—to get money.

Now ethics in the long run merely means the rules of the game. By and by men in any calling find out that there is no general or permanent means of success except through righteousness. Cheating, misrepresentation and all forms of skullduggery are really phases of child-mindedness.

This is the era of Business. The Business Man is slowly taking precedence over all other types of man. It is becoming recognized that the Government of this world is not to be managed from the standpoint of the Priest, or of the Soldier, or of the Politician. We are not going to get any satisfactory government anywhere until we recognize that government is strictly business and until the whole matter is turned over to the Business Man with the Engineer as his chief of staff.

The other day at the Retail Merchants Association at Kamploops in Canada, Joseph T. Crowder, vice-president of the executive council, spoke on "Ideals and Business."

"It is not a question of whether we can or cannot conduct our business along right lines," said he. "It simply means that sooner or later we are going to do it because someone is going to see that we do. We must have some consideration for the comfort and happiness of the other fellow. Business must not be and is not simply the accumulation of net profit.

"If the world deems us inefficient we shall be removed and replaced by those capable of giving better service."

Here is a clear recognition on the part of Business that it feels the ethical claim of the community. It is going to take a long while to get over the delusion that Business is soiling, and that it is not a worthy object in life to make money. This delusion is one of those old heathenish obsessions which still linger.

To make money honestly means to render service to the human race, for people in the long run are not going to continue to pay for what is of no value to them.

The Business Man, that is the Modern Business Man, the Business Man with a conscience, with a sense of his civic duties and of his responsibility to the community, is the last and finest product of evolution.

The physician is a better physician, the lawyer is a better lawyer, the preacher is a better preacher, and the ruler is a better ruler, each in proportion as he is a better business man and gets his honest day's wage for his honest day's work.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

OPEN DOORS OF ASIA

[New York Commercial]

Secretary of State Hughes should act at once to open the doors of Asia to the American wheat farmer, the cotton grower, the makers of machinery and all our producers who will be helped when the volume of American-Asiatic trade picks up the slack of exports necessarily caused by European post-war conditions. Asia's trade doors have been closed by the bandits who have made Chinese government of China temporarily impossible.

Thanks to foreign control, the Chinese maritime customs have broken all records so that almost $49,000,000 were available for the Chinese financial account of 1922. The Salt Gabelle collections advanced over $3,500,000 above the previous figures, a remarkably good showing when China internal disorder is taken into consideration.

The wheat farmer's star of hope is the Asiatic market. A timely move to open that market might have astounding beneficial results. There is time, but no more than time, to recapture lost farming votes.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

American congressional delegates now in Russia are getting stuffed with misinformation. Everybody knew that the purpose in inducing them to make the trip was to stuff them in this manner. Swelled to the bursting point with things that are not so, they will come home to unload useless cargo.

HENRY JAMES

The project was condemned utterly in advance by the fact that it was originated by Hearst. The Hearst papers do not print the truth about Russia. There is nothing to indicate that they desire the truth; the trouble of editing it out would be laborious.

This delegation is having the precise experience that was inevitable. Its members are the feted guests of the soviets. They ride in luxurious cars, Pullman on the rails; Rolls-Royce on the highways. They are not permitted contact with the people who could tell them the facts. The efforts of a Russian of the common sort to communicate with them leads to his arrest.

Farmers in Russia, even though they have larger crops this year, gain nothing by it. The proportion confiscated by the Lenine regime increases. The farmers would be glad to escape from Russia. They have no rights, and no justice is extended to them. The vote of a communist laborer, an ignorant and unthinking animal, equals the vote of five farmers.

Every time a glowing account of Russia has been given, it has been traced to soviet propagandists. It is false, and when American statesmen are used as instruments for purveying it, is shameful.

There hardly could have been occasion for the correspondents to put these facts on the wires. The demand was for respectful silence, and anything else would have been offensive and shocking.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"A MAN HAD"

"When I was very little," smiled the old, old lady who was helping the very, very young one with her home work in arithmetic, "I used to wonder who the man who had so much was, and why he made so much of it, and why I had to be bothered about him. I hated that man!

"I used to get along swimmingly as long as the teacher wrote the examples in neat rows of figures with directions plainly printed on them, 'Add,' 'Subtract,' I could set to work and get them all right in no time.

"But as soon as she wrote, 'A man had,' I was done for. My heart sank into my boots. I never knew what to do with all the things he had and I never knew what he was doing with them either! Never! I knew that something ought to be done for him, but I couldn't find out what it was.

"Then one day I discovered that if the examples had the word 'left' at the end of it I was pretty safe in subtracting the littlest number from the biggest. How I loved that word 'left' with a question mark after it!

"Next I found that if it said something about the 'cost' of one, I could be pretty sure of myself by multiplying something by something. Just why that could be done was rather dim, but it brought the right answer and that was enough to lift a great load off my heart.

"My Friday report used to say, 'Weak in number' and I hated to carry it home. Mother would shake her head sadly and say 'Too bad! You won't get along in school unless you know your numbers,' and father would say, 'Weak in Number. Which one? Here's a nickel. Don't cry. You can get six lemon drops for a cent, see how many you'll get for a nickel!'

"But I never got the right answer, because the old lady who kept the shop used to add a few for good measure and I never could straighten it out.

"Then one dreadful day I carried home the report that said, 'Failed in number' and that meant I was not promoted. I remember that I cried and cried, and that even father and a dime for lemon drops could not bring comfort!".

"My young aunt came to see what was grieving me, so I sobbed out that I couldn't do my number. 'Show me,' said she, and I said the tables and added and multiplied without a mistake.

"'Why you know them perfectly,' said she.

"'Yes, the easy kind I do, but not the "Man Hads," and I explained about the man who 'had' so much and did so many strange things with it, and she laughed and laughed and said, 'Why that's only a number story! Here, I'll tell you one and you play it out. It's only a story like the House That Jack Built.'

"By-an--by I wasn't afraid of the 'man,' no matter what he had! But it was hard in the beginning."

Problems are hard for children because of the language. They bother little girls a whole lot, but the difficulty will disappear once they get the story. Help them a little.

I Made Beauties

Of many plain women in this way

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Countless women owe their beauty and their youth to the helps which brought me mine. I have supplied these helps to many, as a joy. I have seen plain women become beauties, and older women drop all signs of age.

I am convinced that millions can do likewise. Look at me, at a grandmother's age, still a stage beauty, still a girl of 19 in appearance.

I owe my beauty, my perennial youth, to certain helps I found in France. And now, by request of thousands, I have arranged so all who wish may get them.

First, a super-clay

Many years ago French experts taught me the use of clay. They said that famous beauties of all ages had employed clay. And even the crude clays they had then made me a famous beauty.

But those clays were crude and muddy, as many clays are still. Since then, certain scientists have spent 20 years in perfecting clay. Those old-time clays could not compare with the clay I use today.

They have found the right clay, a rare mineral-laden clay, which brings maximum results. They have learned how to refine it, to remove the useless mud. My new type clay is white and clean and dainty.

They have found added factors which bring new and multiplied effects. Now this clay, they tell me—my White Youth Clay—is the last word in facial clays. It brings one new conceptions of what clay can do.

New beauty at once

Youth Clay purges the skin of what clogs it. This removes the cause of sallowness, blackheads and blemishes.

It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. This brings that rosy afterglow, so amazing to new users.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. Many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. And my girlish face, at my age, shows what constant use will do.

Every girl and woman should use clay. Beauty at its best is impossible without it. So is long-extended youth. Clay users stand out everywhere for their beautiful complexions.

But not old-time clays, not muddy clays. This perfected clay—my White Youth Clay—is vastly more effective. And it is now at your command.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Clay is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. Price, 50c and $1 per tube. Also my Youth Cream, which should follow the clay. Also my Facial Youth, my famous liquid cleanser. Also my Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

I can do to women no greater kindness than to urge them to use these helps. You will know that when you try them. Start with Youth Clay—now.—Edna Wallace Hopper, business address, Waukesha, Wisc. Adv.

WILD GAME IN UNITED FILM

The showing of Universal's picture, "Hunting Big Game in Africa," at the United theatre, affords an opportunity to see one of the most remarkable set of jungle pictures ever made. This Universal picture was made by H. A. Snow. The animals that he presents in this Nature movie corrects a whole lot of popular misconceptions embodied in conventional stock phrases. Already the king of beasts, the wise elephant, the silly simian, the patient camel and the gentle antelope, are in the mental discard of those who have looked at "Hunting Big Game."

The lion derives his swelling title from Aesop's Fables, and the classic tradition that crowned him king in north Africa. Mr. Snow re-christened Leo the "king of sneaks" because the great cat is a nocturnal slinker and pouncer, runs unless cornered; is a killer, yes, but never meets foes in stand-up fight.

Other scenes in the Snow film show the African camel an ornery and temperamental cuss; fighting antelopes as dangerous as their smaller cousins are inoffensive; wise baboons, and foolish elephants. The old natural history lore, together with studying the behavior of captives in Zoos, resulted in a number of incorrect generalizations which an actual Jungle film dispels. After seeing the belly-crawling, slinking lion, the stampeding elephant herd, the wild camels, the dangerous oryx and bush bucks, and the skillful manner in which the simian mother protects her young, the more thrilling fact replaces the outworn fable.

The Misses Morrison are leaving for their new home in El Paso, Texas, soon. They have been active members of the La Crescenta Acolian Music club ever since its organization. Miss Hauber entertained the club members as a farewell courtesy to the Misses Morrison. A program in which all members participated and the presentation of a memory book, with the signature of all members were happy features of the evening. GERMANS SEEK HARTZ COAL

[By Associated Press]

EISLEBEN, Saxony, Aug. 22.—Coal mines in the Hartz mountains, neglected for 25 years, again are being operated as a result of the French occupation of the Ruhr. The Hartz coal field is 20 miles long, and it is estimated that one mine alone is capable of yielding 15,000,000 tons of coal.

'MASTERS OF MEN' AT THE GLENDALE

"Masters of Men," by Morgan Robertson, the world's most noted writer of sea stories, is to be shown at the Glendale theater today. Critics have unanimously acclaimed this picture as the greatest sea story ever screened. The picturization by C. Graham Baker has retained loyally the atmosphere of the novel by America's master teller of sea stories and Vitagraph, who offers it, has provided a lavish production, with an all-star cast.

"Masters of Men" tells the story of an American boy who accepted the shame of another's crime that he might protect the girl he loved from humiliation. Branded in his home as a thief the lad runs away and joins the United States navy. While on leave he is shanghaied and suffers brutality accorded to men before the mast on board a four master sailing the Spanish Main. How he effects his escape and aids in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago provides a thrilling drama which holds interest throughout every foot of the screening.

There are four principal parts as the story involves the love affairs of four young people. Earle Williams, one of the most popular stars of the screen, plays Lieutenant Breen, the officer who assists Dick Halpin (played by Cullen Landis) to win back honor and manhood. Pretty Alice Calhoun, who has been starred in many Vitagraph productions and Wanda Hawley long a popular star, play the chief women's roles.

IDYLLWILD INVITES CAMPING TOURIST

In a letter from C. L. Emerson, president of Idyllwild, Inc., he states that Idyllwild, popularly known as the "Yosemite of the South," is enjoying the best season ever experienced, both from a tourist standpoint of business, and homesites purchased. The camp grounds are also serving more campers than ever before.

Idyllwild embraces a thousand acres of land, heavily timbered with pine, oak and cedar, at an elevation of 5,400 feet, in the San Jacinto mountains.

An Inn, separate sleeping cabins, housekeeping cabins, stores, livery, etc., provide comfort, rest and recreation for Idyllwild guests.

Strawberry creek flows through the grounds and will serve as a feeder to a large lake, which according to present plans, will be built in one of the many meadows scattered over the tract.

SALTS BALK AT MILLION MARKS

[By Associated Press]

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 22.—Because they find it impossible to live on a salary of 180,000 marks a month, plus food and quarters, six sailors from the German steamer Prussen of the Hamburg-American line deserted the ship here recently. They have been arrested and turned over to the customs police who will hold the men until they can be sent back to Germany.

"We don't want to return to Germany," the men declared, after their detention by police. "There is no work for us in Germany. In Hamburg, where we came from, there are only three days during the week on which we can find work, and the rest of the week we are forced to lay off. We want to work on American ships. On the German ships we earn 180,000 marks each, but the total of more than a million marks for the six of us do not amount to anything outside of Germany. The marks won't buy us bare necessities of life."

FAMOUS BEAUTY AT THE GATEWAY

Miss Bonnie Adair, winner of several beauty prizes in contests here and at her home in Houston, Texas, has returned to Los Angeles following a trip through the south and southwest. She plans to remain here for the fall and winter. Aside from her beauty, Miss Adair is a talented and popular singer and musician. She has been declared to be one of the most beautiful singers in California and her friends have predicted a great future for her as a songstress.

Whether Miss Adair will respond to the urgings of her friends and undertake a nation-wide tour will be decided during her stay in Los Angeles. It was reported today that a very flattering offer has been made to her. Miss Adair headlines the vaudeville bill to be presented today at the Gateway theatre.

The Cosmopolitan production, "The Love Piker," a delightful melodrama featuring Anita Stewart, is booked for today only at the Gateway theatre.

The picture is an adaptation of a story by Frank R. Adams and has been directed by E. Mason Hopper. Included in the supporting cast are Robert Frazer, playing opposite Miss Stewart, William Norris, Carl Gerrard, Arthur Hoyt, Betty Francisco and others. It treats of the love affair of Hope Warner, a wealthy though snobbish society girl, and Martin Van Huisen, a self-made construction engineer to whom prosperity has come after the death of his mother and who does not have the courage to uproot his father from the old home in the tenement district of the city made dear by many fond memories. Hope's loyalty to Martin is put to a great test on meeting the old man, which encounter almost results in breaking of the engagement. Hope's better self, however, comes to the fore and Martin's father is an honored guest at the wedding.

"CALL OF THE WILD" THURSDAY AT GATEWAY

Fred Jackman, who directed Jack London's "The Call of the Wild," for Hal Roach, was "framed" while working at Truckee, and almost participated another gold rush to the snowed-under mountain village. The film will be shown Thursday at the Gateway.

Some scenes for the London story were filmed in a played-out gold mine just outside of Truckee. One of the extras engaged by Bill Fox, assistant to Jackman, was a grizzled old gentleman who had come to California to find gold.

The old prospector has as his proudest possession several gold nuggets he washed up himself, and which he proudly exhibited to Fox. Bill saw a chance to put one over on the boys, so he framed with the old gentleman to place the nuggets in the mine where they might easily be found when Jack Mulhall started work before the camera.

Mulhall found the nuggets all right, and bellowed his discovery to Jackman. The director became all excited, and halted work while the company prospected for more gold. The word soon spread to Truckee, and the handful of people remaining there for the winter soon found their way to the deserted mine.

While the fever was at its highest, Fox gave all the boys the laugh, but it was a great time while the excitement lasted.

Jimmy had misplaced his knife. After searching through all his pockets, without success, he exclaimed: "Oh, dear, I wish I had another pocket!" "Why so, Jimmy?" asked his mother. "Why, if I had it might be in that one," was the little fellow's reply.

RARE INVESTMENT IS OFFERED BY SANITARIUM

Gold Notes Secured by First Mortgage on Entire Plant

One of the beauty spots of Eastern Glendale is the new sanitarium. In the midst of a rarely beautiful wooded tract of 20 acres in the foothills south of Sycamore canyon is a large fireproof building of four stories, comprising one of the most complete sanitariums in all the country, second only in importance to the great Battle Creek institution. The same methods that have made this latter known all over the world for its wonderful cures are used in the Glendale Sanitarium, which has operated so successfully since 1907 in the smaller plant on Broadway in the very heart of the city.

In addition to this wonderful new sanitarium building, which is to be completed and ready for occupancy early in 1924, the equipment consists of a thoroughly up-to-date hospital in the northwest corner of the block of ground occupied at present by the entire plant. This will still be used as an emergency hospital in connection with the sanitarium.

Not only is the new building to be the last word in luxurious appointments for the care and cure of invalids, but the grounds will be made a dream of beauty. Aided by the trees and shrubbery already there in abundance, landscaping effects of rare charm will be carried out.

From the roof of the building and from high spots on the grounds there is spread before the eyes of the enraptured beholder a panorama of several hundred square miles of mountains, valleys, cities and the distant ocean.

On the entire properties and equipment of this magnificent institution, worth more than one million dollars, are $360,000 of 6 per cent first mortgage real estate gold notes, which are offered for sale to the buying public. Surely no better and safer investment could be imagined than these notes amply secured as they are by first mortgage on all these valuable properties. Full particulars are given in the large display ad in another part of this issue.

This is a Glendale institution of which the whole city is proud and which spreads its fame from sea to sea, from lakes to gulf. Glendale residents will desire to invest largely in these securities.

NEVADA PLANTS 200,000 TROUT

ELY, Nevada, Aug. 22.—Game Warden Powell, with the assistance of the forest rangers in this section, have stocked twenty-one streams near here within the last three weeks with more than 200,000 trout of the rainbow, black-spotted, and steelhead variety, it has been announced. Approximately 100,000 more at the White Pine hatchery will be planted soon. The young fish range in size from one to three inches and all were hatched in the White Pine hatchery.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE BORERS

Not from without the worst enemies come;
Not with the buckle and beat of the drum;
Not with their flags and their standards arrayed,
Not with their plans for the battle all made,
Not riding chargers and bidding us try
Blade with bright blade and to win or to die;
Nay, the worst enemies come not with din,
Tumult or noise—but they come from within.

Not the worst danger to trunks of the trees
Come from the birds and the boys and the bees;
Limbs may be broken and leaves may be strewn—
But all the wounds will be healed and right soon.
Not the bruised bark and the break and the scar
Made in the open will lastingly mar,
But without rattle or shouting or din
Bore the small mites that destroy from within.

Not the worst menace of nations and men
Comes from without, for again and again
We've vanquished armies that marched on with pride,
But the evils are worst that are boring inside.
Ye, who have pride in the nation they built,
Patriot fathers, with blood that was spilt,
Not by attack from without will they win,
Traitors and cowards—but watch them within!

BABIES' PERFECT BACKS GENERAL

The Perfect Back Baby contest is proving that the general belief of most people having some sort of spinal trouble is wrong. A very large percentage of the babies already entered in this contest have perfect backs. The contest is being held for the purpose of locating the babies with the most perfect backs and as a special inducement, valuable prizes are to be awarded the babies with the most perfect backs. Several new judges have just been announced and as they are men who are all well known throughout the state, it is needless to say that the judging will be in competent hands. Chiropractors from every city are reporting that they are pleased with being able to announce that so many of the youngsters they are examining are in the perfect back class. There is still plenty of time to enter the baby and all that is necessary, is to take the baby if it is six years of age or under, to any reliable chiropractor, who will gladly examine and enter the youngster free of charge and without any obligation on the parent's part.

From the owner of a small interest-bearing savings account or a checking account which provides the safest, most efficient way of handling personal finances, the small depositor grows to a point where he needs every service a large departmental bank can render.

Whatever your banking needs, you will find us equipped to care for them, either locally or through the central office of the broad inter-community system of which this Bank is a branch.
